

COOKIES POLICY

WHAT ARE COOKIES?

A cookie is a file that is downloaded to your computer when you access certain webpages. Among other things, cookies allow a website to store and retrieve information about user's browsing habits or that of their or their computer and, depending on the information they contain and the way you use your computer, they may be used in order to recognize a user.

TYPE OF COOKIES?

Analysis Cookies: When properly used by us or by third parties, these cookies allow us to quantify the number of users and thus conduct measurements and statistical analysis regarding the use of any offered services by users. For this purpose, we analyze their browsing in our webpage in order to improve the products or services we offer.

Technical Cookies: They allow the user to browse through restricted areas and use their different features, e.g.: shop for an item.

Customization Cookies: They allow the user to access the service with some pre-defined general features based on a variety of criteria in the user's terminal equipment, like language or the type of browser with which they connect to the service.

Advertising Cookies: When properly treated by this website or by third parties, they allow for the most efficient management of advertising spaces available in the webpage, by adapting ad contents to the contents of any services requested or to the use of our webpage. For this purpose, we may analyze your browsing habits on the Internet and show you advertisements connected with your browsing profile.

Behavioral Advertising Cookies: They allow for the most efficient management of any advertising spaces that the editor may have included in a webpage, application or platform used to deliver the requested service. This type of cookies store information pertaining to visitors' behavior, which is obtained from the continuous observation of their browsing habits, allowing us to develop a specific profile in order to show advertisements based on such profile.
